Open Technical Questions

The questions a rigorous reviewer should ask — and where each stands

Confidence without pretending institutional review is complete

Fiscal

• Official CBO/JCT scoring — not yet performed; welcomed on introduction.

• Enforcement realization ramp — the pace at which IRS/FDVM capacity converts to collections is a central sensitivity.

• Behavioral elasticities — financial-transaction and Pillar Two revenue depend on volume/base responses within published ranges.

• Interaction with existing baselines — overlap with current-law provisions to be reconciled in formal scoring.

Legal

• Specialist constitutional review of nondelegation and major-questions posture — requested, pending.

• Legislative-counsel drafting review — pending institutional engagement.

• Preemption and private-right-of-action inventory — drafted; external review pending.

Procedural

• Committee referral — preliminary analysis complete; final referral is determined by the House and Senate Parliamentarians.

• Multi-committee sequencing for cross-jurisdiction titles — a coordinated strategy question, not a drafting defect.

Implementation

• Agency stand-up timelines and rulemaking capacity — modeled; agency review pending.

Publishing these openly is a confidence signal: the architecture is complete and the remaining questions are the normal institutional review a serious bill invites.

Evidence standard: Fiscal and impact figures are NSRA model estimates built on published CBO, JCT, OMB, GAO, Treasury, SSA, OECD, and peer-reviewed baselines — internally modeled and sensitivity-tested, not yet officially scored by CBO or JCT, which is pending and welcomed. Statutory parameters (e.g., the $35 insulin cap, the 50-unit corporate housing cap) are the text of the bill, not projections.
