Fact sheet

At a Glance

The American Deal is the public campaign for the National Sovereignty and Resilience Act (NSRA), a citizen-authored federal framework of 36 titles and 218 sections. It restores fiscal sovereignty and delivers material household benefits without adding to the deficit, funded by recapturing value that currently leaves the domestic economy rather than by new broad-based taxes. The agenda is finished, internally costed on published government baselines with official CBO/JCT scoring pending, and owned by no party, published in full and open to whoever runs on it first.

The formal legislative vehicle is the NSRA. “The American Deal” is the public movement and governing promise. The project is a program of TheAmericanDeal, Inc., a Wyoming 501(c)(4) civic-education and advocacy organization.

Key Figures, With Sourcing

Claim	Figure	Basis
Year-1 annual revenue	$749B	NSRA model on CBO/JCT/OMB/Treasury baselines
Annual deficit reduction	$554B	NSRA model; internally sensitivity-tested
Balanced budget (central est.)	Year 4	NSRA model; low/base/high scenarios
Americans in Year-1 relief	79M+	28M uninsured, 42M SNAP, 9M veterans
Federal drug-pricing savings	~$55B/yr	PNAS 2024 G7 price-differential analysis
Insulin price cap	$35/mo	Statutory text (pharmaceutical parity title)
Corporate single-family housing cap	50 units/metro	Statutory text (Title XIV)
Small-business exemption	< $10M rev.	Statutory text (Covered Entity definition)

The Nine Promises

Core Messages

Deliverability, not ideology. A promise the country can actually keep: real benefits in Year 1, the dividend only when earned.

Genuine revenue, not borrowing. The bill funds itself by recapturing value leaving the domestic economy, not by new broad-based taxes.

Stronger together, built to pass and survive in pieces. As one Act the 36 titles reinforce each other. For passage, the agenda is organized into five coordinated bills, each able to advance and deliver on its own. For durability, a severability clause (Sec. 205) keeps the rest of the Act in force if a court strikes any single title.

Methodology

How the Figures Are Justified

The headline revenue is the sum of 12 scored base revenue streams plus supplemental enforcement recapture, each built on a published government or peer-reviewed baseline. Gross stream revenue of roughly $784.6B is reduced by program-linked cost netting to the ~$749B central net figure, and to ~$554B in annual deficit reduction after about $196B in revenue-funded outlays. Conservative per-stream assumptions are embedded in the gross estimates; enforcement realization and behavioral effects are sensitivity levers in the interactive model, not additional headline subtractions.

The $784.6B to $554B bridge
Gross scored stream revenue	$784.6B
Less program-linked revenue offsets (student-loan zero-interest, SPI credit)	-$35.0B
Central net Year-1 revenue	$749.6B
Less revenue-funded program outlays (BMP, veterans, CPT, housing, admin)	-$195.6B
Annual deficit reduction	$554.0B

Ten-year deficit reduction totals ~$5.94T central ($5.23T low, $6.42T high). A downloadable scorer workbook separates every input from the formulas so a reviewer can re-score.

The Honest Bottom Line

Clinton started with a $290B deficit and closed it in six years, with the dot-com boom providing an estimated 25-35% of the improvement. The NSRA starts with a $1.9T deficit (6.5x Clinton's challenge) and no tech boom, yet models ~$554B/yr in deficit reduction, nearly 10x Clinton's ~$60B/yr, while also delivering coverage, drug relief, and a household dividend.

Metric	Clinton era	Trump OBBBA (2025)	NSRA 2028
Deficit trajectory	$290B deficit to $69B surplus	CBO: +$3.3-3.8T over 10 yrs	$554B/yr reduction; balanced Yr 4
Balanced budget	Year 6 (dot-com tailwind)	Never	Year 4 (range 3-5)
Healthcare floor	None; 40M+ uninsured	~10-15M lose Medicaid	$0-premium coverage for 28M
Drug pricing	No controls	IRA (10-20 drugs/yr)	G7 parity; compulsory licensing
Housing / PE	No cap	No PE limits	PE barred from hospitals; 50-unit cap
IRS enforcement	~$60B gap	$80B clawed back	$15B/yr mandatory, protected

Campaign framing

Why This Isn't Left or Right

The NSRA is owned by no party and was written outside the party system, to work, not to win a primary. Its planks draw support across the spectrum: banning congressional stock trading, matching G7 drug prices, anti-monopoly enforcement, reshoring and supply-chain sovereignty, veterans-first health care, protecting Social Security, and reducing the deficit. Conservatives see sovereignty, small-business protection, anti-corruption, and fiscal discipline; progressives see affordability, worker protections, and corporate accountability. The same finished bill answers to both.

Anticipated criticism and response

Answering the “Socialism” Charge

Market-based delivery. Universal coverage runs through competing private carriers (the Basic Minimum Plan), with a required medical-loss ratio, regulated competition, not nationalization.

No nationalization of industry. The bill does not seize companies. It caps corporate concentration, enforces existing law, and closes loopholes.

Property rights preserved. Divestitures are market-rate and arms-length, with independent-appraisal rights and Court of Federal Claims review. Pharmaceutical enforcement uses compulsory licensing with a royalty (patent retained), not expropriation.

Pro-small-business. Businesses under $10M in revenue and landlords under ten units are expressly exempt.

Funded by recapture, not redistribution. Revenue comes from collecting taxes owed, closing loopholes, and recapturing value leaving the economy, not new broad-based taxes.

Fiscally conservative by result. It reduces the deficit by a modeled ~$554B/yr and targets a balanced budget by Year 4.

Benefits are earned. The household dividend activates only as verified revenue arrives, a tranche-based escalation lock, not an uncapped entitlement.

The Review Record

Before publication, every provision was pressure-tested. The campaign documents (without exposing internal work product) that it completed a Constitutional Red-Team against current Supreme Court doctrine, a Congressional Viability Audit, a Committee-Jurisdiction Analysis mapping all 36 titles, a Regulatory & Red-Tape Reduction Audit, a Fiscal Stress-Test (low/base/high scenarios), and an Implementation-Readiness Review. Internal review is complete and documented; independent constitutional review and official CBO/JCT scoring are welcomed and pending. The project states which is which rather than implying outside validation it does not yet have.

Fact sheet

Constitutional Grounding

The short version for reporters: it is built to be constitutional. It rests on the same enumerated powers Congress routinely uses, and it protects the businesses it affects through market-rate compensation and due process, not seizure.

The authority the Act rests on Commerce Clause. Art. I, Sec. 8, cl. 3, regulation of interstate commerce and financial markets.

Spending Clause. Art. I, Sec. 8, cl. 1, conditions attached to federal funds (coverage, relief, grants).

Necessary & Proper. Art. I, Sec. 8, cl. 18, the mechanisms carrying the enumerated powers into effect.

General Welfare. The taxing-and-spending power behind the fiscal and benefit architecture.

The protections built in

Fifth Amendment takings. Market-rate, arms-length divestiture with an independent-appraisal right and Court of Federal Claims review; drafted to satisfy the Penn Central test.

Licensing, not expropriation. Pharmaceutical enforcement is a compulsory license, patent retained, 8%/12%/4% royalty, just-compensation arbitration, designed to preserve patent ownership and reduce constitutional takings risk. Final classification pending judicial review.

Procedural due process. 45/60/180-day pre-deprivation notice (Title XVIII), engineered to Mathews v. Eldridge, plus an ALJ verification warrant before large asset actions.

Article III & jury right. Consistent with SEC v. Jarkesy, civil penalties go to an Article III court with the Seventh Amendment jury right; ALJs handle only temporary asset-preservation.

Nondelegation & major questions. Mandatory triggers are fixed by Congress in statute, supplying an intelligible principle responsive to Gundy and West Virginia v. EPA.

Severability. Sec. 205, striking one title leaves the rest of the Act in full force, with a fallback appropriation protecting first-tier benefits.

Full detail: Statement of Constitutional Authority and Title 0 (Sec. 002(4)). Campaign positions, pending specialist and legislative-counsel review.

One-sentence description

The American Deal is a citizen-authored, fully published federal policy framework, the National Sovereignty and Resilience Act, designed to deliver universal zero-premium healthcare, G7 drug pricing, student-debt and housing relief, and roughly $554B in annual deficit reduction without new broad-based taxes.

Organization boilerplate (75 words)

The American Deal is the public campaign for the National Sovereignty and Resilience Act (NSRA), a finished, citizen-authored federal framework of 36 titles published in full and open to whoever runs on it first. A program of TheAmericanDeal, Inc., a Wyoming 501(c)(4) civic-education and advocacy organization, it is owned by no party and funded by recapturing value that leaves the domestic economy rather than by new broad-based taxes. Fiscal figures are internally modeled on published government baselines; official scoring is pending.

Founder bio (50 words)

Santonio D. Sanders is the principal architect of the National Sovereignty and Resilience Act and founder of The American Deal. A ten-year Navy submarine-service veteran and former VA ambulatory-care director, he later worked in federal national-security contracting. He wrote the NSRA outside the political and lobbying systems.

Founder bio (150 words)

Santonio D. Sanders is the principal architect of the National Sovereignty and Resilience Act (NSRA) and the founder of The American Deal. His background is operational rather than political. He served ten years in the United States Navy submarine service, then worked in federal contracting across national-security and diplomatic environments, embedded with multiple agencies. He later served as a VA ambulatory-care director, leading the veteran-care referral continuum at a major federal VA medical facility. Drawing on that firsthand experience of how federal systems succeed and fail, he wrote the NSRA, a finished 36-title federal framework, outside the party and lobbying systems, and published it in full for any candidate to adopt. He built the accompanying transparency tools, the figure-by-figure sourcing, the interactive fiscal model, and the preliminary scoring tool, so the framework could be verified and scored rather than taken on faith.

Pronunciation

Santonio D. Sanders: san-TOH-nee-oh SAN-ders. NSRA: spell it out, “N-S-R-A.”

Approved titles for attribution

Preferred: Santonio D. Sanders, principal architect of the National Sovereignty and Resilience Act and founder of The American Deal. Also acceptable: “founder of The American Deal” or “principal architect of the NSRA.” Please avoid improvised titles such as “campaign founder,” “bill author,” “policy activist,” or “organization president.” Always include the middle initial D.

WHY IT WAS WRITTEN

“I wrote this because the country keeps being told it has to choose between helping people and being responsible with money. That is a false choice, and the math proves it.”

WHY FIVE BILLS

“It is one integrated Act, but it is deliberately not all-or-nothing. We packaged it as five coordinated bills so that if some pass and others stall, Americans still get major wins.”

FISCAL DISCIPLINE

“This is a fiscally conservative document by result. It reduces the deficit by a modeled $554 billion a year and targets a balanced budget in a single presidential term.”

HEALTHCARE

“Nobody should lose a house because they got sick. The Basic Minimum Plan runs through competing private carriers, not a government takeover, and it covers the people the current system leaves out.”

HOUSING

“When Wall Street buys up starter homes by the thousand, first-time buyers lose. Capping corporate single-family ownership at fifty homes per metro puts those houses back within reach of families.”

STUDENT DEBT

“We are not cancelling the principal. We are ending the interest that turns a fair debt into a lifelong one.”

PRIVATE EQUITY

“Private equity has no business owning your hospital, your ambulance, or your 911 call. The NSRA draws that line in statute.”

CITIZEN AUTHORSHIP

“This was written outside the lobbying system, by someone who has actually run federal programs. It answers to the public, not to a donor class.”

THE 2028 STRATEGY

“I do not need the credit. The bill is finished and published in full. Whoever runs on it first can have it.”

EXTERNAL REVIEW

“We label what has been reviewed internally and what still needs independent and official scoring. We are inviting CBO and JCT to score it, not claiming they already have.”

Companion Artifacts

The following are available as separate downloads from the Press & Media portal, so this package stays focused while data journalists can pull structured files directly:

- State press briefs, a printable one-pager per state (affected population, strongest titles, sourcing).

- Machine-readable datasets (CSV and XLSX): revenue streams, 10-year fiscal projections, state impact, title-to-bill and title-to-committee maps, and a source register, each with a data dictionary.

- The scorer workbook: a formula-driven model (assumptions, streams, program costs, phase-in, ten-year window, low/base/high) a reviewer can re-score.

- Figure-by-Figure Sourcing guide and the full statutory text (Policy Vault).
